The Daily Freeman.

VOL. 1. CITY OF KINGSTON, (RONDOUT,) N. Y., THURSDAY, APRIL 11, 1872. NO. 149.

THE DAILY FREEMAN,

PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING,
Sundays excepted,
BY HORATIO FOWKS,
at the Newkirk Building, Division St.,
City of Kingston, (Rondout, N. Y.)

The DAILY FREEMAN will be an Independent Republican Journal, with an opinion on every subject, firm in its advocacy of freedom, equal rights and just laws for all men; outspoken in its opposition to the abuses and the follies of the day, in favor of progress and improvement everywhere, and especially devoted to the interests of the City of Kingston and vicinity.

The Telegraphic News Department will be complete and well supplied, the FREEMAN being a MEMBER OF THE NEW YORK ASSOCIATED PRESS, through which it receives and is enabled to present a full summary of intelligence from all parts of the world every morning.

Local News and especially City, Town and County News will receive special attention, paid correspondents being employed in all parts of the county. All news received from other than our regular correspondents will paid for if used. Full reports of all important meetings will be presented, and in every respect the DAILY FREEMAN will be a First-Class Paper and a worthy companion of the WEEKLY FREEMAN.

Commercial and Stock Reports carefully corrected every day.

THE DAILY FREEMAN will furnish for the breakfast table of its patrons the News from All Parts of the World up to 3 o'clock, A. M.

Terms—Six Dollars per year, payable invariably in advance. If collected weekly, Fifteen Cents per week. Single copies four cents.

Advertisements will be displayed as ordered, and charged according to the space occupied, measured in inches down the column.

THE WEEKLY FREEMAN, a large, well-filled paper, will be sent to subscribers at $2 per annum, payable in advance. HORATIO FOWKS, Editor and Publisher.

JOB PRINTING in all its branches Promptly, Cheaply and Neatly Done. By the use of STEAM POWER and a large force we are enabled to turn out work at a rate that distances all competition. We have facilities for printing Law Cases unequalled between New York and Albany.
HORATIO FOWKS, Proprietor.

BASHFUL BOOTS.

"Tell me, Bashful Boots," I said, "how far is it to Whitby?"

"Please, thir, my name isn't Bashful Booth," answered the child. "It'h Mary Camru."

I was just eighteen, and after having taken my degree in the time-honored university of Pennsylvania, was making a pedestrian tour hrough the eastern counties of my native state. For several hours I had been traversing a wild, wooden region that the inhabitants called "the forest," and which stretches for nearly thirty miles, from the northeast to the southwest, back to the blue ridge, between Whitby and Heidelberg. It was a primitive, picturesque district, with small farms scattered through the valleys, while the hills on either side were densely clothed with the original forest trees. There were so many little, lateral valleys and so many cross-roads, that at last, I began to fear I had lost my way.

Suddenly there rose before me, over the crest of a low hill, the chimney and roof of a time-worn, stone farm-house. The fences were moss-grown; the woods around were bushy and wild; lush grasses grew in the meadows, and the whole air was fragrant with the scent of water-flowers that bloomed in the little brook near by. A scientific agriculturist would have turned from the scene in disgust. But a poet or painter would have been charmed by it. The tangled luxuriant growth carried the imagination back for a century, to the landscapes that Fielding described and Gainsborough painted.

Crossing the field between me and the house, and advancing in my direction, was a little girl. She wore an old sun-bonnet and loose sacque, and carried an earthenware pitcher in her hand; yet in spite of these comparatively coarse accessories, there was a bright intelligent look in her eyes and an air almost of refinement in her face. Observing a stranger, she stopped shyly, with her finger in her mouth. It was then I addressed her.

We soon managed to get quite well acquainted. Whitby, she told me, was "just over the mountains, not more than an hour's walk." She lived with her maternal uncle, who owned the farm-house, which had been her grandfather's and her great grandfather's before. "Papa was a minister," she said. "We lived in the city till he and mamma died."

I was about to walk on, when she asked me, slyly, if I wouldn't like a drink of milk. She was going to the spring house, she added. I assented most gladly, and she tripped gaily before me, flitting along like a free, happy bird.

Have you ever, my dear reader, seen a real, old-fashioned Pennsylvania spring-house? A one-storied, one-roomed stone edifice, built over a natural spring, generally shaded by a weeping-willow, or some ancient forest tree, and floored with brick and stone! My little hostess, kneeling down, dipped some milk up from a pan, that floated in the ever-running stream, which made the circuit of the spring-house inside. Never before or since, have I had a draught so delicious.

Afterward I sat down on the low, turf-bank outside, and chatted with my little friend.

"Do you know," she said, artlessly, "I like country better than town? You hear the birds at daybreak, you can hunt for wild-flowers. Oh! such violets, and blue-bells, and quaker ladies as we have here."

"And buttercups, too, I hope."

"Yes, yes, buttercups. Do you know how to tell if you like butter?" she asked, gleefully.

"Don't I! You hold the buttercup to your chin."

She clapped her hands, and laughing said, "How do you know that?"

"Oh! I know more than you think," I answered, coolly; but feeling a young man's pride, nevertheless, in her admiration "Can you tell me, for instance, what is this?"

I had been, as my habit was, poking with my stick into the turf, and now I had loosened a heavy, rusty-looking bit of stone, that rolled at my feet.

"No," she said, with some contempt, "I don't care for dirty rocks; I care for flowers and trees."

"But this dirty bit of rock," I answered, "is hæmatitic ore," quite willing to show off my geological knowledge, and forgetting that she would be wholly ignorant of the matter. 'If there's a vein of it on your uncle's farm, it will make his fortune. I shouldn't wonder if there was," I added. "This ore is always found in just such localities, where the trapdykes," and I waved my stick in the direction of the rugged, knife-edged hills that rose in front, "broke through the sandstone. Why it's as good as a gold mine, my dear."

"A gold mine!" her eyes were bigger than ever now.

"Yes! as good as a gold mine. If the farm was mine, I'd sink a shaft at once. Is your uncle at home?"

"No. He has gone to Whitby."

"Well, then, mind you tell him when he comes home to-night. It will do no harm at any rate." As I spoke I rose to go.

She looked down and put her finger to her mouth again. At last, with a shy blush, she said:

"Would you mind writing it down? the big word, I mean."

"Oh! the name of the ore. Certainly not," I said, laughing. I tore a leaf from my memorandum book as I spoke, and wrote the word as she requested.

"Do you often come this way," she asked, bashfully, as I offered my hand and said good-bye.

"I was never here before, little one, and don't know that I shall ever come again."

Her face fell.

"But I should like to come," I added. "I will try next summer."

She brightened up again.

"Oh! do come," she cried. "Do you know I like you—ever so much?"

When I reached the turn of the wood, at the top of the hill above, I stopped to look back. My little acquaintance stood just where I had left her, gazing wistfully after me. I took off my hat, she courtesied and then I plunged into the forest.

That night, at Whitby, I had occasion for my pencil case, a thin, golden one, with my name engraved on it. I could not find it anywhere. "Where have I left it?" I had quite forgotten that I had used it in the spring house, and might have dropped it there.

I never returned to the old farmhouse. The next winter I went abroad, for I had a competent fortune, and I wished to finish at a German university. Afterwards I became an attache, and subsequently traveled extensively. At last I began to long for my native land.—Ten years in Europe had only made me love the institutions of my country the more. But before I returned to America I went to Rome on a farewell visit. To me, as to many others that wonderful city was the one city of the world, to which to go back, again and again, with ever increasing affection.

The morning after I arrived, I walked to St. Peter's to hear, in the canon's chapel, the music of Plestrina. While listening to the chanting, I happened to glance up at one of the private galleries on the left, and saw there a woman's face, so wrapt, so exalted, that for the time she looked like one of Fra Angelica's angels.

"It won't do," said my friend Charley Hargrave, putting his arm into mine, when the congregation was dispersing. "I saw whom you were looking at, but she's above even your reach. She's been the belle of the season, my dear fellow, and has had lots of earls and counts disputing her smiles. Stop, here she comes, and Prince Borgia is with her, to whom they say she is engaged."

We had by this time reached the aisle outside. As the lady passed, she looked up, as if some instinct had told her she was the subject of our conversation. For one moment our eyes met. A thrill went through me. Never before had I known what love was, but from that moment I was hopelessly lost.

"Who is she?" I stammered, when she and her escort passed out of hearing.

"Miss Vonberg, a great heiress."

"German?"

"No American, though of German descent, as the name shows. The gossip of the last week, that she has finally made her choice, must be true; for that was Prince Borgia, as I said before; and only some influential person, one of the pope's guard, as he is, for example, could have got a permit to that gallery. The stately old dame with them, too, was his mother; the other was Miss Vonberg's chaperon, for she is an orphan. You'd have known all this, if you had been here through the winter, as I have been. Why, the young English swells used to crowd to the table d'hote at Miss Vonberg's hotel in the Corso, just to catch a sight of her at dinner. At last she had to move to private apartments in the Palazza Goldona, to avoid being stared out of countenance."

Why was it that, notwithstanding this friendly warning, I went back to my hotel to think of Miss Vonberg? Was I mistaken in fancying that, in passing, she had looked at me with evident interest? All that day her image was before me. At night I dreamed of her; dreamed she had made me happy; and woke to find out my delusion, and to wish I could have slept on forever, with dreams so blissful.

But sleep would not come again. Besides, I had an engagement with an old diplomatic friend to accompany him, his wife, and his wife's mother on a drive out on the Campagna. There had been some remarkable excavations made lately at the Scava, which he wished me to see. So I dressed, breakfasted and joined my friends.

We had finished our investigations, and were about to re-enter our barouche, when I heard shrieks and the rush of wheels, and, glancing up the road saw a carriage approaching us at full gallop. In vain the coachman tugged at the frightened steeds. On, on they tore, the barouche bounding from side to side behind them, threatening the lives of the two ladies who seemed to be the only occupants of the carriage, and from one of whom came the shrieks.

It was but the work of an instant for me to rush forward, seize the nigh horse, twist the bit until it threw him against his fellow, and stop the carriage with a lurch that snapped the pole and sent the coachman reeling from his seat. In another instant my friend had come to my aid, the traces had been cut, and all danger was over.

I stepped to the door hat in hand to assist the ladies to alight. The one nearest me, an elderly woman, whose shrieks had rent the air, fairly tumbled out into my arms. It took both my friend and myself, she was so helpless to carry her to the bank by the roadside where we put her down. Then, leaving my companion and the ladies of the party to attend to her, I hurried back to the barouche.

But, before I could reach it, the other occupant, springing lightly out, had met me half way. Apparently she was as cool and composed as if in her drawing room at home. As I began to apologise for my delay, she threw back her veil and smiled, revealing the face of Miss Vosberg.

I felt as if I walked on air.

"How can I thank you sufficiently?" she said, in the softest, most musical of voices,—"I had given ourselves up for lost, when you rushed forward so bravely."

Never shall I forget the emphasis on these last words, or her look as she spoke them.—"It was nothing," I replied, yet my heart beat high and proud. "Nothing more than any other would have done.'

"Pardon me" she answered, "I do not think so. It was an even chance that the horse would trample you to death, and only heroes take such risks as that." Her great Juno-like eyes blazed as she uttered these words.

She had stopped in her enthusiasm. But now, as if sensible she had been too frank, she colored violently, and moved quickly forward, saying, "Excuse me, but aunt, I perceive, is calling me."

"How shall we ever get back to Rome?" cried the poor old lady, who had recovered from her faint. "I never, never can trust myself behind those horses again."

"If you will accept them, the seats of my friend and myself are at your service," I said.

"But you will have to walk back to Rome."

"That is a trifle," I replied.

"The distance must be four or five miles. But for my aunt I could not think of accepting." She hesitated. "I suppose there is no other alternative. How can we ever repay you?" She gave me her hand in parting, smiling bewitchingly."

The long miles back to the Lateran gate seemed but a few steps, I was so intoxicated with happiness.

Intoxicated with happiness and with dreams that I soon found to be, alas! hopeless ones. For, calling the next day at the Palazza Goldona, the first person I saw in the saloon was Prince Borgia, to whom Miss Vonberg introduced me. He had heard of the event of the day before, and he scowled at me as if I had interfered with him. Miss Vonberg herself was ill at ease. She watched the prince anxiously, so anxiously, that in a little while I rose to go.

I think I never was so angry. Miss Vonberg was evidently engaged to the prince, and moreover was afraid of him. She was as different, in his presence, from the bright, frank, enthusiastic girl of the Campagna, as it was possible to be. "Another sacrifice to rank," I said wrathfully. "What fools our American girls make of themselves!" You see, I had gone there, expecting a warm welcome, dreaming impossible dreams, and this was my revenge.

THE DAILY FREEMAN.

CITY OF KINGSTON, (RONDOUT.)

THURSDAY, APRIL 11, 1872.

The Corrupt Judges Fast.

For years the public has been firmly convinced of the corrupt character of Judges George G. Barnard and Albert Cardozo. But to prove what everybody knew was the difficulty.—It was more than difficult in their cases, because the lawyers who had to supply the proof fully appreciated the fact that they placed a vast deal at risk. If they failed to prove their allegations they would have incurred the undying hatred of men thereby still left in places of power where they could crush them or effectually destroy their business at the bar.

But the lawyers have bravely taken the risk to abate a scandal scarcely equalled in any other department of corruption. It was a species of villainy that struck at every man's safety and business, hence the Bar Association felt that more than ordinary risks should be run to clear the Augean stables.

The Report of the Committee, which consisted of Van Cott, Parsons and Stickney, is crushing in its completeness. Coming as it does from members of the same profession it should secure the prompt resignation of Barnard and Cardozo and their speedy trial.

They say the evidence taken reveals numerous instances of misconstruction of plain statutes and perversion of familiar rules of law, and that the judges have notoriously favored their friends as receivers, referees and counsel, producing injustice and loss, and have also received presents from favored suitors. It cites Judge Barnard's order to open the Union Pacific's safe with burglars' tools, and his afterwards boasting of it in a bar-room and giving a humorous account of it. This caused a loss of $5,000,000 to the Company. In the Black Friday suits he appointed a receiver when the bank was solvent, and the funds were distributed among parties to whom they did not belong, the receiver getting $15,000. This caused a loss of nearly $300,000 in forty days. In the Erie English stockholders' case he granted an injunction, stopping all the operations of an 800-mile railroad, representing $32,000,000, to an individual on a bond of $250. Judge Cardozo appointed a receiver for an insurance company against which not even an allegation of insolvency was made, no defence from the wealthy corporation being heard. Mr. Howe testified that he had got between 300 and 400 prisoners discharged through these two judges, on habeas corpus, and only three or four of them had ever had a hearing. Per contra Judge Cardozo kept two innocent women in jail for a week without legal proceedings, frightening any lawyer by threats from undertaking their case. In the matter of references his relative Nathan Gratz was appointed in 64 out of 69 cases in 1871, and regularly transferred a share of his enormous profits to the judge. These amounted to $30,000 in all. In another case Judge Barnard put a man in jail until an election could be had and then released him without further ceremony.

To sum it all up these judges made themselves a praise to evil-doers and a terror to them that do well.

It is a matter of public congratulation that these villains have been so cleverly, surely revealed, and that the members of the judiciary who have taken the trouble and endured the unpleasantness attending the production of testimony have stuck to their task so closely and bravely.

Going Back on Their Professions.

The present legislature was elected on the platform of Reform against the gigantic abuses which had disgusted the people and made tax-payers sad with their burdens. In the matter of investigation it has been reasonably prompt, though there was some delay about the Terwilliger matter and a disposition manifested to overlook his rascality, the report being made as mild as possible.

In the matter of Senator Wood, however, the Senate has grossly belied the professions of love for reform made in the canvass and early in the session. Everybody is well satisfied that he received the money which he deposited in the Ring savings-bank from Tweed, and he should have been promptly tumbled out of the Senate. Instead the honorable gentlemen have voted, 15 to 12, that he is just the man for them to associate with. It is a disgrace to both the Senate and the State.

The annual meeting of the Round Lake Association, for the election of officers, etc., is to be held on the camp ground this (Wednesday) morning. Extensive arrangements are being made for one of the largest camp meetings ever held there. Nearly forty of the presiding elders from eight conferences in this State have under their own signature accepted the invitation to join in a State camp meeting.—The Rev. B. J. Ives, of Western New York, has accepted the appointment to take charge of the meeting, which is to commence July 16th, and continue ten days. Quite a number of new cottages are to go up this Spring, and other improvements in the ground are to be made.

Associated Press Dispatches.

BY TELEGRAPH TO DAILY FREEMAN.

FRANCE.

PARIS, April 10.

Gambetta delivered an address at Angers last evening in advocacy of a republic. In the course of his remarks Gambetta asserted that the whole country was practically a unit for the defeat of the supporters of the monarchy. In support of this statement he cited as proof the results of the municipal and departmental elections. Gambetta continued by a spirited assault upon members of the party of the Right in the Assembly, who, he said, are utterly disturbed by the people of France, and concluded by vigorously urging upon Thiers the definite establishment of a republic.

PARIS, April 10.

The authorities of the French departments on the Spanish border have been instructed by the government to arrest all Spanish refugees and send them to the Barque provinces for detention. They have also been ordered to stop all packages going into Spain containing cartridges or powder.

SPAIN.

MADRID, April 10.

Advices from Catalonia state that the Alcade of Gracia had been arrested by a band of Carlists, but was quickly released. Troops are still pursuing the Carlists in the State of Gerona and have already captured four prisoners. Despatches from the province of Old Castile state that a band of priests and Carlists have attacked the municipality of Agreda and gaining entrance seized and carried off all electoral documents. Disorders are reported in a very large number of towns in consequence of the declaration of the result of the votes at the recent election. The disturbances in Gallicia are principally against the authority of the government of the province of Orense.

MADRID, April 10.

The movements of the Carlists in Catalonia and Gallicia, which it was believed indicated a general rising, are not so important as at first thought, and will probably be speedily suppressed.

GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON, April 10.

A deputation from Belfast, Ireland, waited upon Gladstone to-day and presented an invitation bearing the signatures of three thousand citizens to visit that city, accept its hospitalities and deliver an address. The document heartily recognizes the great services rendered by Gladstone to Ireland and its people. The Premier in response spoke at length in explanation and defence of his Irish policy, and expressed a strong wish for the welfare of Ireland. He said it would be a great deprivation if he should find himself unable, from pressure of public duties, to visit Belfast. He closed by accepting conditionally the invitation as that of the whole rather than that of a portion of the people of Ireland, and said he would communicate at a future time with the deputation as to the exact date of his visit.

SHOT BY A BURGLAR.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 10.

About twelve o'clock last night a burglar entered the residence of W. T. Cogswell, a prominent lawyer, when Cogswell heard him and got up to drive him from the premises. When in the front hall, at the foot of the stairs, the burglar turned and shot Cogswell. The ball entered the right leg below the knee, perforating both bones.

The burglar escaped. Surgeons are now attempting to extract the ball, and Cogswell is doing as well as can be expected. The affair causes intense excitement here.

LATER.—Since the previous despatch the surgeons have recovered the ball from Mr. Cogswell's leg. It was found embedded in the big bone tibia, which is badly shattered on one side of it.

THE CALIFORNIA EARTHQUAKE.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10.

Letters from Lone Pine say the whole of Owen's Valley has been moved southward fourteen feet. Over seven thousand shocks had occurred to date, and they still continue, but not with sufficient force to do any damage.

The earthquake of March 27th hurled immense rocks down the cliffs into the valley of Yosemite, smashing great pine trees to splinters, but detracting nothing from the scenery of the valley.

An Indian runner brings a dispatch from the mouth of Colorado River, which says the earthquake caused immense waves to roll up the Gulf of California, breaking the schooner Alice Drake loose from her anchorage.

SUICIDE BY A LUNATIC.

SYRACUSE, April 10.

Edwin A. Ives, of Utica, formerly a merchant in Troy, committed suicide at the Syracuse House in this city this evening. Financial difficulties in Troy five years ago, together with blindness, which came on at the same time, made him crazy. He was at one time in the Utica asylum, but was out of his time, though not fully recovered. He came to this city this afternoon and purchased a revolver, with which he shot himself both through the heart and brain. He was found locked in his room about 6 P. M. His wife followed him from Utica, but arrived to late to prevent the deed.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT ON THE MIDLAND RAILROAD.

A terrible accident occurred to-day on the Midland Railroad near Hackensack. The Saddle River bridge gave way and precipitated a train into the river. John Doremus, brakeman, was instantly killed and 25 or 30 passengers were taken from the wreck more or less injured. The baggage master had both legs broken. David Blauvelt, conductor, was badly bruised about the head and lies in a precarious condition. Judge Wortend, of Bergen Co., was also badly injured. A wrecking train was sent from Jersey City this afternoon and every attention paid to the wounded.

THE FRESHET AT ALBANY—THE ELECTION.

ALBANY, April 10.

The freshet still continues here, obstructing business on the docks, which are overflowed.

The Evening Journal claims as the result of the election yesterday 9 Republicans to 7 Democrats in the Common Council; that the Board of Supervisors will now stand 18 Rep. to 11 Dem.; the election of Greene, Rep., for Recorder, and says the nominal returns make Thatcher Mayor, by a slender majority, but there is the strongest evidence that Judson was clearly elected.

RAILROAD LAND SLIDE.

POUGHKEEPSIE, April 10.

In consequence of two heavy slides, one at Glenham and the other at Winchell's Summit, no passenger trains have run over the Dutchess & Columbia Railroad to-day. Gangs of men are at work endeavoring to remove the obstructions, and it is thought travel will be resumed to-day.

A CHILD IN A TRANCE.

NEWBURGH, April 10.

To-day when the preparations for the burial of Frank Wilson, a child of three years, who, it was supposed, died on Monday, were completed, signs of life appeared. The child still lies as if in a trance.

DAMAGE CAUSED BY FRESHET.

CINCINNATI, April 10.

The loss of coal and of barges swept away by the sudden rise in the river is estimated at from $150,000 to $200,000.

METROPOLITAN NEWS.

NEW YORK, April 10.

The Republican State Committee met at the Fifth Avenue Hotel to-day to take action in reference to the election of delegates to the Philadelphia Convention, but as only a few members were present the meeting was adjourned.

George Gordon, with several aliases, claiming to be the Earl of Aberdeen, was arrested by a Deputy Sheriff on the affidavit of Jay Gould, charging him with converting to his own use six hundred shares of capital stock of Erie, intrusted to him to sell.

The books of the United States National Bank were opened to-day and $2,000,000 were subscribed.

To-day being the anniversary of the German peace jubilee, flags, &c., are flying in German districts, where are also concerts and illuminations this evening.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

WASHINGTON, April 10.

Col. Smith sends a report of a council held with Red Cloud at Fort Laramie. He told Red Cloud he could not have any supplies until the animals stolen by his people were returned. The chief said he could not prevail on his people to comply. Gen. Crook, commanding the department of Arizona, is satisfied the Indians are making a combined movement throughout the northern country.

The Secretary of the Navy sent a communication to the House to-day which shows that the proceeds of sales of the Navy Department since June 30th, 1865, is $12,923,419, and that the expenditures of the Department for the same period have not exceeded the apropriation, on the contrary the sum of $740,277.65 has been refunded out of the appropriations and proceeds of sales to the Treasury.

The Secretary of the Treasury transmitted a bill to the House to-day, with the recommendation that it pass, providing for an aggregate appropriation of $61,174 to reimburse Treasurer Spinner for losses incurred by embezzlements, etc.

Forty-Second Congress--Second Session.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, April 10.

Mr. SUMNER presented the resolution of the Massachusetts Legislature in regard to the French spoliation claims. Ordered printed.

Mr. CAMERON proposed to call up the bill to provide for the payment of the French spoliation claims, but gave way and the Senate resumed the consideration of the Indian appropriation bill.

The pending question was on Hitchcock's amendment, prescribing the manner in which claims for Indian depredations shall be settled, which was adopted. Adjourned.

HOUSE.

Mr. MCCREARY, from the Committee on Election, made an adverse report on the petition of certain voters to take the testimony in the Ohio contested election case of Schenck against Campbell. Tabled.

The House at 1:40 went into Committee of the Whole on the Senate amendments to the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill. A long discussion ensued on the question of appropriating $50,000 for the expense of the civil service reform system. The debate, which was generally adverse to the proposition, was carried on by Garfield, Butler, Mass., Willard, Maynard, Coburn, Conger, Potter, Dawes, Beck, McCreary and Sargent. The remarks of Garfield, Dawes and Willard were in favor of the proposed reform system. No vote was taken on the proposition, when the Committee rose and the House at half-past four adjourned.

The State Legislature.

SENATE.

ALBANY, April 10.

REPORTS.

Mr. ROBERTSON, in relation to Criminal Courts and Police Justices in the City and County of New York, with amendments.

Also, to establish a Court of Special Sessions in and for the city of Albany, and to confer further judicial powers upon the Recorder of said city.

A large number of bills were introduced, and a number were reported from the Committee of Nine.

Mr. LORD offered a resolution that the letters of Senator Ames, in relation to the Wood case, be entered in the Journal. Agreed to.

On motion of Mr. D. P. WOOD, the consideration of the bill for the support of government was postponed until to-morrow.

DEATH OF ERASTUS CORNING.

Mr. ADAMS offered the following:

Resolved, That the Senate has heard with deep sorrow of the death of Hon. Erastus Corning, formerly a member of this body, three terms a member of Congress, for nearly forty a regent of the University, at one time a Chancellor of that board, and a citizen of eminent character and repute.

Resolved, That in respect to his memory the Senate will attend his funeral in a body.

Mr. MURPHY said that few men had filled more space in the public eye than the deceased. His name was associated with many of the most useful public enterprises of the State. It was his fortune to serve with Mr. Corning in the Constitutional Convention, and he found him a man of enlarged views, and yet conservative in maintaining the principles on which the government was founded. He was a man who could be held up as a model to young men everywhere, and he trusted the resolution would be adopted.

Mr. BENEDICT said he had known the parents of the deceased, who were of the highest respectability; and the success of their son was due in a large measure to his own great qualities, and not to mere luck, as many would claim in such cases of remarkable success. Mr. Corning was well qualified for all the positions he filled—not, indeed, highly educated, but of sound sense and judgement. He was not ostentatious; not even in his benevolence, and his career was indeed worthy of commendation to the young. The resolutions were unanimously adopted.

EVENING SESSION.

The pro rata railroad freight bill was debated at length in Committee of the Whole. Finally the enacting clause was striken out; ayes 17, noes 10.

Mr. MADDEN reported a bill to authorize Cornelius Vanderbilt to build a railway from the Grand Central depot, New York, to the City Hall.

The bill to extend the powers of boards of supervisors, except in New York or Kings county, was reported.

After a long discussion as to whether state bonds should be paid in coin or currency the Senate adjourned.

ASSEMBLY.

The Senate sent for concurrence a resolution allowing the Grand Army of the Republic in Albany to use the regimental flags of Albany regiments, now in the Military Bureau, on Decoration day. Adopted.

Mr. LINCOLN introduced a supplemental bill in relation to a police justice in the village of Canandaigua. Passed.

Mr. MACKAY introduced a bill for the protection of livery stable keepers.

Mr. BENNETT, from the Committee on Commerce and Navigation, to which the investigation into the affairs of the Commissioners of Emigration was referred, reported that a large amount of testimony had been taken, which is now being printed, and which establishes the facts that the disbursements for salaries are in excess of the requirements of the institution; that men have been employed for political reasons rather than because of special fitness for the duties required of them; that there has been great extravagance in the purchase of food and supplies; that the Commissioners were induced to favor the reduction of the head money from $2.50 to $1.50, under the impression that the emigrant traffic would be benefited thereby, whereas, by a clandestine pecuniary arrangement, of which the Commissioners were ignorant, the benefits thereof have enured solely to the wealthy ship owners. On the strength of this testimony, the Committee have felt it to be their duty to propose a bill, now on the files of the members, appointing a new emigration commission, in which are included M. Hugh Wallach, and the present ex-officio members of the existing Board, the reason for the retention of them being that, according to the evidence, they alone seemed awake to the abuses that have crept into the management of the Commission, and persistently advocated economy and reform. The bill also provides for a reduction of the period for which emigrants in good health may become a charge upon the Commission, from five years, the present time, to two years. Tabled and ordered printed.

EVENING SESSION.

Mr. MOSHER, from the select committee to whom was referred the announcement of the death of Erastus Corning, submitted resolutions of regret at the death and respect to the memory of that distinguished gentleman.

Messrs. Jacobs, Fields, Alvord, Husted and Speaker Smith spoke in feeling terms of the services of deceased and his generous and noble character as a citizen and public official. The resolutions were then adopted by the members rising and standing in silence.

The House then went into committee on the bill authorizing a tax and making appropriations for new work and extraordinary repairs on the state canals.

On motion of Mr. SMYTHE the appropriation of $50,000 to complete the Oneida Lake Canal was stricken out. The Committee then arose and reported progress and the bill was made a special order for to-morrow forenoon. Adjourned.

THE DAILY FREEMAN.

CITY OF KINGSTON, (RONDOUT.)

THURSDAY, APRIL 11, 1872.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Coal Arrivals.

Twenty-four canal boats laden with three thousand and thirty tons of coal reached tide water on Wednesday.

Sold.

Mr. H. Forst on Wednesday sold his celebrated horse St. Lawrence for $975 to Mr. Jacob Brink of Pine Bush.

New Store.

Christopher Snyder, well known in upper Kingston, has opened a first-class grocery store on Washington Avenue.

Salary Raised.

Rev. Wm. Irvin, of the Fifth Street Presbyterian Church of Troy, and formerly of Rondout, has received an increase of salary of $1,000.

A Double.

Port Jervis has a Marx Jacobs, and he is a merchant tailor, too. But we don't believe he beats our Marx on cuts and fits and general stylishness.

Citizens' City Convention.

The delegates to the City General Convention meet to-day at Schwalbach's Grand Central Hotel, at 10 A. M., to nominate candidates for Mayor, Recorder, three Assessors, four Constables, and a Sealer of Weights and Measures.

More Accommodation.

H. W. Winne next week will put another and very handsome omnibus on his line from this end of the city to his Eagle Hotel. His patronage is increasing and the accommodation his line affords to passengers makes it deservedly popular.

To be Re-Painted.

The Tubby Bros. measured the Mansion House in this city on Wednesday morning to ascertain the number of feet in the surface to be painted, it being contemplated to adorn the building with spotless white lead and make the blinds a delicate straw color. So mote it be.

The R. & O. R. R.

As we predicted last Tuesday another rain has made the R. & O. R. R. impassible. The trains on Tuesday were unable to run further than Big Indian on account of the slides.—Yesterday the construction train went up to remove the obstruction, and this morning we believe the track to be clear, though the road is hardly in a safe condition.

Detained by Fog.

Owing to the dense fog on the river during Tuesday night the steamer Thomas Cornell, after leaving New York at her usual hour, was forced to come to anchor off Fort Washington Point, where she remained until 6 A. M. on Wednesday, when the fog lifted sufficiently to permit of her resuming her passage. Between 8 and 9 o'clock she met the Baldwin just below Cozzens, she having also been detained by fog. The Cornell reached her wharf in this city between 12 M. and 1 P. M., bringing a large freight and a full passenger list.

Lively Business.

From the following, clipped from the New York Advertiser, it will be seen that James Dean, our old townsman, is doing a lively business:

At Dean's Railways and Shipyard at Red Hook, the following vessels are overhauling: Steamboat New Champion, of Catskill line, recaulking and coppering bottom; steamboat Norwich, of Cornell's towing line, recaulking and other extensive repairs; steamboat Americus, of R. Cornell White's line, recaulking decks, etc.; receiving barge James Kent, entirely recaulking; elevators Harre and Liverpool, of New York Elevator Company, receiving general repairs; Daniel Eldridge, of the International Company, thorough overhauling.

Nuisances to be Abolished.

The East Front street excavation is well filled with water, and if a man hasn't a horse that can swim, he had not better attempt a passage. We hope under the new regime this nuisance will be done away. There is another nuisance in this city that should be examined into by the board of health. In the upper part of the city, in some of its finest portions, are slaughter houses, when cattle are butchered, and the offal poisons the air of the whole neighborhood. During the killing, the bawling of the dying animals can be heard several blocks. If this is not a nuisance in the eyes of the law, we would ask, most respectfully, what then is a nuisance?

He Has Come.

The migratory Italian, smelling of onions instead of his more favorite garlic, and he has brought his heart-rending barrel organ with him. All day on Wednesday his goose-flesh raising and curse-inspiring discord was wafted through the open window of our sanctum, and as he persistently ground out a most lugubrious burlesque on "the last rose of summer," we exhausted all of our ingenuity in endeavoring to discover him in a favorable position to be smote upon the head with "a 'alf a brick," but evading all chances of our presenting him with a testimonial of our hearty disapprobation, he continued to make that barrel organ wail forth sounds which we suppose resemble the cries of the damned. Wonder if some chap with a grudge against the FREEMAN did hire that Italian to try and drive us crazy?

Tows.

A New Sensation.

Mr. Schuckmen has leased the rooms in the O'Reilly building on Mill street, next to the store now occupied by Kleisner, which he is about to fit up in a style far surpassing in luxury any place of public entertainment ever opened between Albany and New York. Mirrors, carpets, cut glass and silver are to be part of the furniture, while marble topped tables, a two thousand dollar organ and an immense bagatelle table are accessories. Musical concerts, known to the sporting fraternity as "free and easys," are to be given, while all the beverages known to those who taste "the cup that cheers but—does inebriate" will be furnished, and lunches served that would melt the heart of an anchorite and cause the cockles of his heart to warm within him. Such ordinary decorations as the finest French polish, brightest gilt work and most exquisite wall paper are mere incidents to the general tout ensemble. We hear it whispered among the knowing ones that the manager of this, to be, celebrated lounging place will be a young man of this city who has a knowledge of that kind of business from his experience at Long Branch and acquaintance with the management of the best conducted places of its kind in noted Gotham.

Stuck in the Mud.

Last Wednesday, while Rev. Dr. Stitt, M. Schoonmaker and Mr. Degroff were returning from Classis, which had been held at Dashville, their team stuck fast in the mud near St. Remy Church; so the gentlemen had to get out of the wagon and hoist both wagon and horses out of the mire. The animals sank to their bodies in the mud; so their condition as well at the gentlemen after the struggle can well be imagined.

County.

Marlborough is talking of a bank and a printing office.

It is said that there is a blacksmith at Bruynswick corners, who can cure a horse that hits its knees while trotting, by shoeing. It is said he has not failed in a single case, and that he has had some bad ones to deal with. We make a note of this fact for the benefit of horsemen, and "all whom it may concern."

Successful Business.

The manufacture of cement drain and sewer pipes, commenced five years ago by Gumaer & Lefever on the bank of the Rondout Creek, opposite the Wilbur stone docks, proves to be a success. Their sales for the past two years have averaged over seven thousand feet per year, and judging from the quantity of pipes they have on hand of the various sizes from 3 to 15 inch bore, they will be able to supply the increasing demand.

Ulster County Roads.

A recent article the Poughkeepsie Eagle comments very severely on the roads which we have in Ulster County. The passage referred to speaks of the writer's experience in recently traveling over the road from this city to Rosendale, and says: "They don't make roads in Ulster County, but strike a trail and use it till it is worn into some resemblance to a wagon road, then they keep on using it and never repairing it, but just let the bottom fall out."

To be sure, at this season nearly all roads are bad, and the one from here to Rosendale is an exceptionally rough one; but the rebuke, in the main, can be applied to roads in every section of the county. There is no reason why our roads should be in the condition they are. Hilly and rocky they must be, but a little care and labor judiciously expended may make them as good as any in the state, instead of as bad as the worst. Said a newspaper friend the other day, "Why don't your people use the material (gravel and slate) which abounds on every side to improve your roadways?" We could only tell him it was lack of disposition.

Our people, our farmers especially, must wake up to the belief that it will be a measure of economy to have good roads before we can expect much of a change in this respect; and we think it must take but little thought or calculation, if they look at in its proper light, to convince them that in the single item of saving of wear and tear of horses, harness and wagons, good roads, in the long run, would be a paying investment. It is a matter which concerns us all; for it adds to the natural attractions of the section and commends it to the favorable opinion of visitors and business men from other localities. It is needless to say that however beautiful our surroundings may be, the charm is taken away by a ride to see them over roads which make the experience one of pain instead of pleasure. Let us go to work and build good roads.

Saugerties.

The Watson Bros. will perform here at Maxwell's Hall, next Saturday night.

Wild black ducks and fresh shad are now the rage in the markets. The river is full of both.

Contractors complain that there are not enough masons in Saugerties. There seems to be plenty of work for them.

The Bigelow Blue-Stone Co.'s office has been changed from the store underneath Maxwell's Hall to the office lately occupied by J. N. Fiero on Main street.

The ferry-boat was badly damaged last week by coming in contact with a canal boat. Her port side was stove in, and other injury done. A lady standing near the door came very near being hurt. Capt. Snyder had her repaired at once.

The Saugerties Circulating Library have removed their rooms from the Reformed church to one of the stores below Maxwell's Hall. It is probably the finest Library room in the county. The rooms are elegantly carpeted, painted and grained, and a Librarian is constantly in attendance.

Many of the citizens of Saugerties are aware that the organization of a circus troupe in this place has been going on since last Fall. Mr. H. D. Van Leuven, who was connected with a circus some years ago, is the originator of this enterprise. He determined to start one a year or more ago, and from that time to this he has been slowly but surely developing his plans. He has been working indefatigably for the last six months and as a result has secured the services of some of the best artists in the country, who as gymnasts, tumblers, and performers generally, are unexcelled by any in the world. He has also at great expense and trouble engaged Mr. Lee Powell, the great clown, jester, and driver, who has been in the business for 20 years and has a world-wide reputation. He can easily drive sixty horses. The statement in Monday's FREEMAN that Mr. Van Leuven had purchased 100 horses of Pultz is incorrect. He has bought a drove of Pultz, but he did not have 100 to sell. A large number of show wagons have arrived from New York, among them a fine band-wagon, which will be drawn by sixteen or eighteen beautiful black steeds. He has engaged to fill this wagon with one of the finest circus bands in the country. Mr. Van Leuven himself is acknowledged to be one of the best slack-wire and rope-walkers in this country, and as a general balancing man he has no superior. Even now in rehearsal to witness his thrilling and daring feats upon the trapeze bar, chains one's attention to him as if it were by some supernatural power. To better understand him one must see his acts. Johnson, the only great iron ball man, has also been secured. He possesses herculean power, notwithstanding his slight frame, and handles the fifty pounders as if they were but feathers. Among his company is the great Shell Allard, one of the quickest and most graceful gymnasts the country has ever seen. George Phillips and James Smith, in their astounding feats in the Brother act, are truly wonderful. We think Phillips the best general performer in the company. Mr. Charles Griffiths has also been engaged for the season, and is an excellent tumbler and gymnast. Mr. Abram Teatsel will astonish the natives by his daring acts and is especially distinguished in his great feats with Phillips upon the trapeze. A few more performers will soon be engaged. The route has been chosen, and soon Mr. Walter Williams will be on the road as advance agent posting the bills. It will be known as "Van's Great Olympic Show." The tent is now being made in New York, and will arrive next week. It will be immediately pitched for a week, until the company can be got together, when they will visit one or two small places to get the machinery oiled, and then they will start on their regular route, taking in Catskill, Saugerties and Kingston first. Mr. Van Leuven deserves great praise for his spirit and pluck in this enterprise, and we wish him abundant success.

Assembling of the New York Conference.

The 82d session of the New York Conference of the M. E. Church will commence in New York city in the 18th street Church at 9 o'clock Friday evening. This is one of the oldest and most influential conferences in the M. E. Church. The following is the full list of the officers of the Conference:

President—Bishop Ames.

Secretaries—A. K. Sanford, A. McLean and E. S. Osborn.

Trustees—M. Richardson, W. H. Ferris, D. S. Marks, H. Lounsbery, L. M. Vincent, P. R. Brown, M. D. C. Crawford, C. S. Brown.

Conference Missionary Society.

T. Lodge, President, Z. N. Lewis, Treas.

Managers—I. H. Lent, W. H. Evans, E. L. Prentiss, W. T. Abbott, R. Hunt, H. W. Ackerly.

There are in this conference six districts, the New York, Poughkeepsie, Rhinebeck, Prattsville, Ellenville and Newburgh. There are 273 ministers in the Conference, and 13 candidates for the ministry or for admission into the Conference.

For the first time in the history of the M. E. Church the Lay element is introduced. There are 240 Lay delegates elected to this conference. The whole number of ministers and Lay delegates will be 520. These five hundred and twenty will find pleasant homes with the Methodist families of New York City. There are 36,722 members and 5,167 probationers within the bounds of this Conference, 461 Sabbath Schools, 36,690 scholars.

LOCAL NOTICES.

JACOB'S VALLEY LAUNDRY.—The subscriber having taken the laundry, in connection with C. G. Proper and G. C. Abbey, they are prepared to do all kinds of family washing at last year's prices; also for steamboats and hotels by the month; also carpets, beddings, horse blankets, fine undershirts, lace curtains, &c. Strangers' and travelers' washing will be done and returned within twenty-four hours. Orders through the Kingston and Rondout Post Offices, left on the slate at A. A. Crosby & Co.'s hardware store, will be attended to. Plain family washing will be done for 30 cents per dozen without ironing.

d1m* HUGH LUNDY.

EVERYBODY INTERESTED.—The spring campaign fairly commenced at the old stand of Odell, English & Co. A large and splendid stock of cloths, cassimers, coatings, cheviots, suitings, spring overcoatings, English cards, diagonals and other spring goods for men's wear, just received. We take pleasure in notifying that we are in the market with a complete line of new goods for the coming season. Our spring importations have arrived, and are now open for inspection. We flatter ourselves that we can exhibit to our patrons this spring a larger, finer and better selected stock of goods than can be found elsewhere. We cordially invite the public to call and examine our stock before purchasing their spring outfits, confident that in point of variety, style and finish we cannot be excelled. Our goods have been selected with great care, and from the fact of our importing direct from the manufacturers enables us to get a different line of goods from any other house. We desire to express our thanks to all who have contributed to our success during the past year, and will take this occasion to say to all that if fair dealing, honest goods, close application to business will continue this success, we shall leave nothing undone to secure this result. Don't forget the place—the old stand of

This Cut illustrates the manner of Using

DR. PIERCE'S

Fountain Nasal Injector,

OR DOUCHE.

This instrument is especially designed for the perfect application of

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

It is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried high up and perfectly applied to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. The want of success in treating Catarrh heretofore has arisen largely from the impossibility of applying remedies to these cavities and chambers by any of the ordinary methods. This obstacle in the way of effecting cures is entirely overcome by the invention of the Douche. In using this instrument, the Fluid is carried by its own weight, (no snuffing, forcing or pumping being required,) up one nostril in a full gently flowing stream to the highest portion of the nasal passages, passes into and thoroughly cleanses all the tubes and chambers connected therewith, and flows out of the opposite nostril. Its use is pleasant, and so simple that a child can understand it. Full and explicit directions accompany each instrument. When used with this instrument, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications.

Symptoms of Catarrh. Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucus, purulent, offensive, &c. In others a dryness, dry, watery, weak or inflamed eyes, stopping up or obstruction of nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, &c. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, when used with Dr. Pierce's Nasal Douche, and accompanied with the constitutional treatment which is recommended in the pamphlet that wraps each bottle of the Remedy, is a perfect specific for this loathsome disease, and the proprietor offers, in good faith, $500 reward for a case he can not cure. The Remedy is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. The Catarrh Remedy is sold at 50 cents, Douche at 60 cents, by all Druggists, or either will be mailed by proprietor on receipt of 60 cents. R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Sole Proprietor, BUFFALO, N. The Greatest Excitement SINCE THE FLOOD!

A. M. Low's PROCLAMATION FOR 1872, READ IT!

A. M. LOW, the popular Boot and Shoe Dealer of No. 19 Wall street, City of Kingston, desires the people to know that he has stocked his store for the spring and summer of 1872 with all the very latest styles of Boots and shoes, which he is now offering at a figure that is an inducement for all in want of foot gear to extend to him their patronage. In the line of Men's Wear he carries for the season a superior article of hand made shoes, manufactured by Messrs. HANAN & BRODISH, of New York City. They are decidedly the "nobbiest" style ever placed in the market, made from the very best material and of the very best finish, and for which he is the sole agent in the City of Kingston. Besides these he has all other kinds in market of all the various shapes, styles, quality and prices.

Low has also the exclusive sale in this city of Women's and Misses' Shoes manufactured by Reynolds Brothers of Utica, and Munsen & Co. of Albany, articles celebrated for their beauty, finish, durability and peculiarity of preserving their shape. He is selling heaps of them daily, which is the best advertisement they can have, for everybody who buys them recommends them to their neighbors. As usual his stock is full in all the other grades of this line and will be kept so during the season.

Boys, Youths, Misses, Children, and Infants all go to Low's to get their foot clothed, for there they can find a stock to select from that leaves nothing outside of New York City. Had he space he would like to enumerate further—but it would fill this paper, and therefore he is obliged to stop with the simple announcement that he has the LARGEST STOCK AND STOCK IN THE CITY—that he purchases at Wholesale and sells at retail, and that he is determined to keep the lead in his line of business, and not seeking a monopoly, invites competition from all sources, confident that he shall at least make his store worthy of patronage and one of the leading features of the new City of Kingston.

Respectfully, A. M. LOW,
No. 19 Wall Street, Kingston.

THE IMPROVED

WHEELER & WILSON

Again Improved.

PERFECTION is our motto, and with this end in view, we have so improved the

FEEDING DEVICE

as vastly to improve its efficacy, while at the same time much less skill and care are required in its management. Neither the thread nor the cloth require holding, and both the thickest and thinnest goods are sewed perfectly. Seams are crossed with greater ease, and the work guided with scarce an effort. The

Distinctive Feature of this Machine is the

ROTARY HOOK

to carry the loop of the upper thread around the spool containing the under, MAKING THE LOCK STITCH ALIKE ON BOTH SIDES OF FABRIC, thereby doing away with the vibratory motion of the shuttle, the tension upon the under thread, and all devices for taking up slack thread, necessary on all other two-thread machines. The public have endorsed these principles by purchasing 50,000 of our Machines.

183,600 Machines per annum.

Many new machine companies have had their rise and fall—their machines once popular now scarcely known—others have made radical changes in order to exist; while the Howe Machine Company have adhered to the opinion of "Elias Howe, Master of Mechanics" ("The machine is mechanically correct; does not change"), built addition after addition to their factory, and to-day cannot supply the demand, although turning out six hundred machines a day—just a machine a minute.

FOR FAMILIES AND MANUFACTURES,

THE GREAT PRIZE:
EXPOSITION UNIVERSELLE, PARIS, 1867,
Awarded over eighty-two competitors

The Highest Premium,

THE ONLY CROSS OF THE LEGION OF HONOR AND GOLD MEDAL,

Given to American Sewing Machines, per Imperial Decree, published in the "Moniteur Universel" (Official Journal of the French Empire,) Tuesday, 23 July, 1867, in these words:

ELIAS HOWE, Jr. { Fabricante de Machines a coudre exposant. Manufacturer of sewing Machines, Exhibitor.

The Howe Sewing Machines

Are celebrated and known for doing the best work, using a straight and much smaller needle for the same thread than any other machine. They are adapted to any and all kinds of family sewing and manufacturing of every description, from fine lace to patent leather, making a beautiful and perfect Lock Stitch, alike on both sides of the article sewed, and will neither rip nor ravel, and uses less thread.

Every machine is as near perfection as the best machinery in the world can make it. It is the oldest machine and has more improvements, and is nearer perfection than any other machine, the parts being exactly alike. If any of the parts need to be replaced, the operator can replace it, and it will outlast and outwear any machine made. They are remarkably simple and easily learned, sure in their operation, and almost impossible to break or get them out of order. They use any thread directly from the spool. The needle has a perpendicular motion, (absolutely necessary for heavy work,) runs easily, a fast sewer, and almost noiseless. They do not soil the dress of the operator, and do not have to be taken apart to oil and clean. The New Improved Family Machine cannot be surpassed and is without equal, and we CHALLENGE THE WORLD to produce a better machine on points of merit. A Hemmer, Feller, Gatherer, Braider, Quilter, Tucking Guide, and all the other necessary Tools go with each machine, free of charge.

☞ Beware of spurious and bogus Howe's. The undersigned is the only authorized Agent for the Genuine Howe Machine.

And all other sizes in proportion.

Give me a call and you will be satisfied of the truth of the foregoing proclamation.

GEORGE McKOWN.

Kingston March 30, 1872.

PHOTOGRAPHIC CARD.

As making pictures of young children has become a very important branch of the business, a few hints on the subject will not be amiss as a guide to those interested.

Mothers who wish to have babies appear in white should dress them in light blue, pink or Solferino; nicely trimmed or embroidered. All blue, or colors mixed with blue, are photographically speaking white, accordingly as the blue more or less predominates.

As children are often troublesome and restless and hard to get a picture of, and as I do not wish to let poor work leave my Gallery, or be bothered with impossibilities over which I have no control, I kindly request mothers to bear in mind that babies should be brought to the Gallery between ten and two o'clock, the nearer ten the better. The reasons for this are obvious, to wit:

FIRST:—THE CHILD IS NOT SO RESTLESS, THE MOTHER IS IN BETTER HUMOR IN THE FORENOON, THE ARTIST IS PRETTY LIKELY TO HAVE HAD HIS BREAKFAST, (WE SELDOM EVER GET DINNER) AND IS NOT SO IMPATIENT, HENCE BABY IS MORE LIKELY TO GET A GOOD PICTURE.

SECOND:—A PHOTOGRAPHER WISHES TO MAKE MONEY, OR AT LEAST A LIVING, AS WELL AS OTHER PEOPLE, AND DON'T LIKE TO BOTHER WITH BABIES IF THE GALLERY IS FULL OF LADIES AND GENTLEMEN, WHO ARE WAITING FOR SITTINGS, AND SEE NO END TO THE BABY-RATTLE AND CRY.

THIRD:—THE LIGHT IS NOT SO POWERFUL IN THE AFTERNOON AS IN THE MORNING.—THE ACTINIC POWER OF THE SUN'S RAYS ARE STRONGER AND MORE ACTIVE FROM SUNRISE TO NOON, THAN FROM NOON TO SUNDOWN. IT WOULD BE WELL FOR ADULTS TO BEAR THIS IN MIND WHO WANT SITTINGS FOR THEMSELVES.
